EIGHTEENTH CONGRESS
First Regular Session

House Bill No. 2026

Introduced by HON. ROBERT ACE S. BARBERS

AN ACT RE-IMPOSING THE DEATH PENALTY ON CERTAIN HEINOUS
CRIMES, REPEALING FOR THE PURPOSE REPUBLIC ACT NO. 9346,
AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Crimes disturb the order of society. The alarming rise of heinous crimes in our country calls for the re-imposition of the capital punishment. The death penalty is said to be the strongest deterrent society has against such crimes. It aims to restore order and adequately punishes criminals. The death penalty also serves as retribution for victims and their families.

Since the government has the highest interest in preventing heinous crime, it should use the strongest punishment available to deter unlawful acts – the death penalty. If criminals charged guilty of committing heinous crimes are sentenced to death and executed, potential criminals will think twice before committing crimes for fear of losing their own life.

In view of the foregoing consideration, the passage of this bill is earnestly sought.
