EIGHTEENTH CONGRESS
First Regular Session

HOUSE BILL NO. 6725

Introduced by ANG PROBINSYANO
Party-List Representative Alfred Delos Santos

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The COVID-19 pandemic has been an eye-opener to many problems. As of the last census in 2015, Metro Manila has a population of 12.8 million people, and this number would even be greater at present. Population density, along with lack of urban planning and rural development all contributed to the difficulty that Metro Manila and other urban cities experienced in dealing with COVID-19.

Local government units (LGUs) found themselves overwhelmed with the number of residents that they needed to provide assistance. While some of them are able to cope and lay down effect policies, these are all but temporary solutions. After COVID-19, we will still have to face the problems brought about by population density such as lack of sufficient health facilities, health personnel to patient ratio, limited resources of the LGU compared with the number of its residents, traffic and road congestion, among others.

Thus, in order to provide for a long-term solution, it is high time to provide for a Buhay Probinsya national policy. Buhay Probinsya, as in the provincial life, and Buhay Probinsya, as in provinces that are alive and thriving. We want to put rural development in a primary position, and for that to happen, a comprehensive national policy must first be created.

This national policy shall take into account not only industrial or commercial development but also agriculture and sustainable tourism. We want the policy to harness, but at the same time protect, our existing resources so that it can be used for the overall national development. We want our fellow Filipinos to see and feel development within their provinces so that they will never have to uproot their lives and leave their family to move into the big urban cities. We want the provinces to thrive through the inflow of businesses, investors, agricultural advances, and sustainable tourism, mga probinsyang buhay at puso ng buhay, iyan po ang obhektibo natin. It is for these reasons that the passage of this bill is earnestly sought.
