AN ACT
ESTABLISHING A FILIPINO SIGN LANGUAGE STUDIES PROGRAM

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Education and sign language are important elements in eliminating barriers to inclusivity and setting the foundations for the integration of persons who are deaf into mainstream society.

The United Nations Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities recognizes and promotes the use of sign languages, and its equal status to spoken languages. It obligates Member States, including the Philippines, to facilitate the learning of sign language and promote the linguistic identity of the deaf community. It also acknowledges that access and services to sign language, including quality education in sign language, is vital to the growth and development of the deaf individual and critical to the achievement of the internationally agreed development goals.

Countries all around the world have begun introducing Sign Language Education in their education system: the Chinese University of Hong Kong has the leading programs in Hong Kong Sign Language Linguistics in their Centre for Sign Linguistics and Deaf Studies; and the Ratchasuda College, Mahidol University of Thailand has Bachelor of Arts Programme in Deaf Studies for their very own Thai Sign Language.

In line with our commitment to creating an enabling environment for persons with disability, on October 30, 2018, the Republic Act No. 11106 or The Filipino Sign Language Act was signed into law by President Rodrigo Duterte declaring the Filipino Sign Language as the national sign language of the Filipino Deaf community. Another relevant development is the recent approval of the Commission on Higher Education (CHED) on a one-year project entitled “Program and Materials Development for Teaching Filipino Sign Language for MTB-MLE in HEIs” that pioneers training of Deaf FSL Specialists nationwide. However, more steps are to be taken in order to fully realize the promises of social, cultural, and economic integration for the PWD community, especially for Filipinos who are Deaf.

A logical step forward would be to create a Filipino Sign Language Studies Program, an academic program to institutionalize the curricula, outputs, and pedagogy to be gained from the one-year project of CHED, and the framework established by the Filipino Sign Language Law.

Thus, this bill seeks to establish a Filipino Sign Language Studies Program both in the undergraduate and post-graduate level in hopes of promoting quality and accessible education for all Filipinos anchored on social justice.

In view of the foregoing, the immediate passage of this bill is earnestly sought.
