House Bill No. 790

EXPLANATORY NOTE

This proposal seeks to transfer the New Bilibid Prison from its current location in Muntinlupa City to Tanay, Rizal.

Countless studies, reports and articles have been made about the national penitentiary, the New Bilibid Prison (NBP) in Muntinlupa City. They all point out to one thing – it is overcrowded and is in a deplorable state.

The overcrowding has resulted to what may be considered sub-human living conditions for those incarcerated in the NBP. This gives rise to sickness brought about by poor sanitary and health conditions, outbreak of violence among inmates due to conflicts for space, and an environment that is not conducive to reform and rehabilitation. These deplorable conditions have prompted wealthy inmates to bribe prison officials in order to live more comfortable lives and enjoy some special privileges while serving their sentences in the NBP. Such a corrupt system also opened opportunities for enterprising inmates to engage in illegal activities like drugs, prostitution and gambling to earn enough money to buy special privileges while incarcerated.

Its location in an urban center has also become an untenable situation as this has made access to the NBP easier and facilitated criminal activities within, aside from posing danger to residents in the surrounding areas. The time has come to transfer the national penitentiary and build a modern facility that is secure, able to perform its mandate to rehabilitate and reform inmates and far from an urban area.

On September 8, 2006, Proclamation No. 1158 reserved Two Hundred Seventy (270) hectares in a titled property of the Republic of the Philippines located in Barangay Cuyambay, Municipality of Tanay, Province of Rizal as the new site of the New Bilibid Prison under the Department of Justice. This presence of an available location will facilitate the transfer of the NBP from its present location.

In view of the foregoing, the early passage of this bill is earnestly sought.
