EXPLANATORY NOTE

The Bicol Regional Training and Teaching Hospital (BRTTH) is currently a 250-bed capacity general hospital servicing the Bicolanos for more than 100 years. Having just celebrated its centennial anniversary, from its humble beginning as a US army barracks hospital, it has evolved into the “PGH of Bicol, apex hospital, it being the referral hospital in the region. Geographically located in the center of Bicol, the hospital has the provinces of Albay, Sorsogon, Masbate, Camarines Sur and Catanduanes as its catchment area. The continued development of the City of Legazpi and its neighboring provinces coupled with the increase in population must also be proportionate with the capacity to provide the medical needs of the people.

BRTTH, even with its limited capacity and resources, has been expanding its services to meet the demand of the Bicolanos. Coping up with the DOH mandate to become the Heart, Lung and Kidney Center and recently as Cancer Center, it has expanded its accreditation to PHIC Z benefits in order to attain President Duterte’s Philippine Health Agenda 2016-2022 of “All for Health Towards Health for All.” These centers will cater to the entire region being the sole provider of this chronic illnesses. It is therefore expected that with these services, it will result to an increase in patients served.

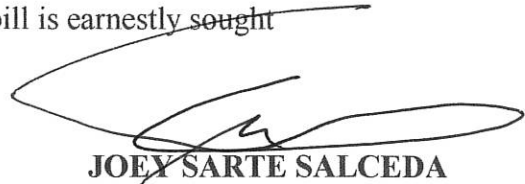

The hospital is an ISO certified institution since 2012 and currently working on its Strategic Plans based on the Philippine Governance System. BRTTH also garnered the Gawad Kalasag national award, ranked best hospital as evaluated by DOH and is an accredited Level 3 research institution by the Philippine Health Research Ethics Board (PHREB) and internationally recognized by SIDCER (Strategic Initiative for Developing Capacity in Ethical Review) and by FERCAP (Forum for Ethical Review Committees in Asia & the Western Pacific) on its health-related research activities.

A Regional Development Council endorsement in 2004 and 2012 for its upgrading to 600 bed capacity are no longer appropriate due to expansion of facilities and services having broken the 600 mark of patients in a day with over 200% Bed Occupancy Rate, in 2014. It has however, gradually adopted its development plan with the new services offered and in upgrading the facilities and augmentation of its personnel. The 800-bed capacity are allocated for the general hospital (600) while the 200 beds are earmarked for the specialty and subspecialty services.

In this regard, the upgrading of Bicol Regional Training and Teaching Hospital to Bicol Regional Multi-Specialty Training and Teaching Hospital with 800 Bed Capacity is timely and in accordance with the Department of Health's program thrusts on health service delivery being accessible to all.

In view of the foregoing, the passage of this bill is earnestly sought
